Daffy About Dandelions, But She Keeps Trying Anyway

BY MARY BRUCE

Each year some people grow grass.

We grow dandelions! There are some lawns in our neighborhood that resemble vibrant national carpeting.

Ours does too, yellow sidewalk to sidewalk dandelions. In not so bad when they're blooming, but when those lovely little seeds start to float in the wind, I usually try to hide.

I really shouldn't bother though, as our dandelions refuse to let up housekeeping in anyone's back lawn. They know a good thing when they see it. Keep together. Keeping it all in one family.

Right about now you're thinking they just don't know what they're doing. You know what? They are absolutely right. After five years of telling those dandelions, we're in a state of mindlessness.

No matter what we've tried, they've thrived. Regardless of the care, each spring without fail we get masses and masses of those blooming dandelions!

At first, the local nursery was more than happy to sell us any number of useful weed killers, but they ignore us when we come in now.

We've tried faithfully to follow every reasonable suggestion except for one: a chance acquaintance, an elderly man, took me aside to whisper that if I filled my sprinkling can with salt water and misted the lawn during the light of the full moon, on the third Tuesday of the month, they'd be gone forever.

We were desperate enough to try, but since the only full moon on the third Tuesday of the month fell in January, we were too late for another way.

Our biggest disappointment is that our grass gave up so easily. Talk about tired blood! Our grass had lived for another way.

We do have one entirely green spot and we're in the process of making an appropriate sign saying "Here Lies Grass."

Through the years we've gained fame as authorities on the subject of dandelions, mainly because we are the proud owners of a handsome set of books written by someone or other who was daffy about dandelions. It called the "Care and Feeding of Dandelions."

How about that? I've accumulated quite a variety of recipes. They can be cool, baked, stewed and make a delicious and exclusive wine. I'm always most happy to pass them out, but lately I've noticed when I mention them to friends, the subject seems to change to the weather.

One year I thought I was pretty shrewd and offered to pay the kids five cents a head for dandelions, all they could pick. About one half hour later we started to count and stopped at 2,152.

After that episode, I decided to handle them in my usual way: ignore them.

I still invite each visiting child to feel free to pick a lovely bouquet of blossoms for mother. The kids never come back, but my blossoms never fail me.

To show you how low we've sunk, we expect our suggestion box to be completed and mailed to a nearby tree within the next word. If you have any suggestions, however, outlandish, don't hesitate. Meanwhile, if you're fond of dandelions for a salad or what have you, "come on - a - you - house."

It even helps you dig.

PUT THEM AWAY

If too much dandelion food leaves you 10 pounds heavier, go on a diet immediately and avoid wearing anything tight, shiny, fuzzy, bulky, flared or limp. Put away all pants except culottes, give up knitted dresses, wide and/or bright belts, full-length skirts, until those pounds are gone.

Twins Michelle and Marie Shaw of 811 S. Roosevelt, Arlington Heights, receive instructions on bicycle safety from Sgt. Joseph Ostermann during an inspection at Bryden School. The girls are kindergarten pupils.

Bicycle Registration Program Opens This Month in Schools

Bicycle inspections are being conducted this month in Arlington Heights through a cooperative community effort to encourage bicycle safety for elementary school pupils.

Organizations participating in the program are the Arlington Heights Police Department, the PTA of District 25 Elementary Schools, Arlington Heights Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 381, and A-H Clubs through the University of Illinois Extension service.

All the elementary schools in the village will have a day for bicycle inspection. Members of the police department will inspect the bicycles and direct the pupils through a traffic course.

Village bicycle riders are being issued and the bicycles will be registered with a serial number system that will be recorded at the police station.

The post has donated the tape to the village program.

STOPS of reflective tape will be put on the rear fender, headlamp and front fender of the bicycle, making each bike visible after dark from all angles. The tape is visible at a distance up to 1,500 feet in the headlights of a car.

The bicycle inspection will be held according to the following schedule: Wednesday, May 8, St. James School; Thursday, May 9, South Junior High School; Friday, May 10, Patton and Olive schools; Monday, May 13, Our Lady of the Wayside School; Tuesday, May 14, Waukegan, Deer, and Greengraber schools; Wednesday, May 15, Greengraber and Dunton schools; Thursday, May 16, Windish School; Friday, May 17, Hill School; Monday,

May 20, Miller Junior High School; Tuesday, May 21, St. Peter Lutheran; Wednesday, May 22, Junior High School; Thursday, May 23, Kensington, and Friday, May 24, North School.

Local grocery retailers reported no immediate bread shortage in the wake of a bakery strike that began yesterday.

Several per cent of the area's bread production has been curtailed by a strike of American Bakery and Confectionery Workers local against four major bakeries.

The strike followed the union membership's rejection of an offer of wage increases totaling 41 cents an hour for the next two years.

According to Robert Kozl at Village Market, 15 N. Prospect, the union members of the bakery workers' union said, "There hasn't been too much change in our cost of operation."

Outdoors Lures 600 Scouts

More than 600 boy scouts and adults from Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows Scout District 25, Woodstock, camped over the weekend at the Chain O' Lakes State Park. Of the district's 800 boys, 523 participated in the spring camporee. All took part in the competitive games and some gave merit badges for personal achievements. The chairman's award for best performance at the camporee, went to Troop 159 which is sponsored by St. Simon's Church in Arlington Heights, checked along with names of boy scouts for merit badges.

Police Hunt 1 Driver in Girl's Death

Arlington Heights police are still seeking information on a car involved in a fatal hit-and-run accident on south Arlington Heights Rd. Saturday.

Barbara Thorne, 15, of 320 S. Belmont, Arlington-Heights, died Sunday from head injuries sustained when she was struck, apparently by two cars, while attempting to cross Arlington Heights Rd. and about 150 feet south of Sigwalt.

The incident was reported to police at 8:49 p.m.

The driver of one car that struck the teen-ager, John Lindgren, 34, of Berthoud, Pa., reported the accident to police. He said the girl was struck by a car northbound on Arlington Heights Rd. and that the impact threw her into the path of his car as he drove south.

Funeral services for Miss Thorne were scheduled for this morning in St. Summa Episcopal Church in Arlington Heights. Burial was scheduled for Memorial Garden Cemetery in Arlington Heights.

Miss Thorne was a freshman at Arlington High School. She is survived by her parents, Marshall and Jean Thorne, and her brothers, James and John R., and grandparents, Irving Landgraf and Adolph and May Thorne.

350 Workers Still Off Job in Telephone Strike

With the threat of another strike Wednesday hanging over Illinois Bell Telephone, about 350 tollers and repairmen yesterday were off their jobs in the widest strike at local office.

They belong to the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers who had struck Bell about two weeks ago in sympathy with the operators, members of the Communications Workers of America.

J. B. Oels, Bell vice president, predicted greater inconvenience to the public because of lack of personnel to carry out phone installations.

"We are amazed and disappointed - just as the public must be - that IBEW does not have all of its members on the job today in fulfillment of their contract obligations," he said.

Some of the workers apparently showed up Monday at the company's offices, but left before noon.

TOMORROW WAS set as the deadline for a strike by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. The union's contract with Bell expired in April and members legally could strike in 30 days if negotiations did not solve the difference between workers and management.

Dialogue

...with George Hamilton

"Getting back at something on news that happened last week, I was suffering from the '70s quite a chore. I never did get to mention the fact that New York's Gov. Rockefeller and Vice President Humphrey have tossed their hats into the presidential ring."

"I wonder how that saying originated, anyway. Why doesn't a candidate throw his hat into the ring instead of his hat?"

"I'm surprised that you don't have the right of saying that a candidate threw his hat in the ring. Why, it's as easy as falling off a log."

"Really?"

"All right, but what about the ring?"

"The ring is the eternal symbol of fidelity, perfection and promise, you know, like an engagement ring or a dog ring. So that's why a candidate for high office wears his hat into the ring."

"I see. In that case, I'll add that definition to my growing list. As a news reporter, I'm our great American sport, electorater, shifts into high gear. Here's what I have to say."

Male Phone Operators' Day Has Passed

By Charles Montclair

A weary man, his shirt collar open, walked up the bulletin board of the Illinois Bell Telephone district office in Arlington Heights last week and looked around to see he was being watched.

He pulled a slip out of his pocket and posted it on the board. Then he walked away, and almost at once he was noticed as he came.

"My only regret is that I have only two ears and one year to give to my company," the sign read.

The two-week employees' strike, which ended Sunday as operators refused a new contract, changed business managers into workers sweating 12-hour days at the switchboards.

A special quality review service of all calls to insure accuracy and completion of billing was manned by administrative personnel during the telephone strike. Miss Helen Cantelini, a chief operator, is shown supervising. From left, Robert Kane, Miss Eleanor Winkler and William Walters. Miss Winkler lives at 913 S. Highland and Walters at 1213 W. Welling.

Administrators accustomed to long lunch periods and 5 p.m. commutes spent their evenings talking to unidentified voices who sought assistance.

"The grass in the yard grew high and the wild rose ran rampant," said Gene Montgomery, district community relations manager for Bell.

Telephone operators and information girls usually are trained for about two weeks before administrative personnel take over. But when the regular operators were to return to work they found the new contract.

Answer on Comic Page

Dress suggestions for graduating eighth-graders have been given to persons by Holmes Junior High School, District 29.

The school's first graduation ceremony will be held June 12, at 8 p.m.

Principal Richard Jensen said that appropriate garb for girls would be a smart dress suitable to be worn to church on Sunday, or to other semi-formal events.

He suggested that girls not wear white dresses, because their corsage will be white, and would not show to best advantage.

While sleeveless dresses would be appropriate, said Jensen, dress or spaghetti straps, strapless or backless dresses, or mid-length dresses would not be considered in good taste.

Holmes' graduation dress and party has been planned for the following Friday, June 14, from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. at the school.

Similar dress regulations will apply to students' dancing from Dwyer and Grove Junior High Schools, also in District 29.

Jensen asked that for safety reasons, chins on henn and corsages not be worn. Girls' corsages and boys' boutonnieres will be ordered through the school.

Families who have children graduating from Holmes will be given free tickets. Any arrangements for extra tickets should be made directly with students who had no tickets and all their allotment.

Harper Construction Close to Schedule

Harper College's architectural firm briefed board of education members last week for the first time since last fall.

Representatives of Cudell, Davis and Scott, design architects of Hoffman, told the board that construction of the college campus is "coming along fine."

"Whenever our Houston team of architects comes to see us, we set up a meeting where they can brief us on campus plans," said Dr. Robert E. Lahri, Harper College president.

"We also employ a local architectural firm from Chicago—Fridrich, Finch and Parsons. That company was represented at the meeting last night," Lahri continued.

EDWARD FINLEY, partner in the Houston firm, said he "kates Harper College."

Representatives of the Harper project, said just fine. "We are very anxious to our proposed design. The first six buildings of the campus will be completed by July."

To the good people who answered the plea for just plain dress citizens who would like to find a way to let their feelings be known on all of the seven around us, many thanks. The first meeting is scheduled for the Arlington Room in the Arlington Heights Skating and Swim Club, May 14, at 8 p.m. Thursday.

men have done a lousy job, I fear."

"I most heartily agree with the letter from the women saying everything has gone far enough. What can we do?"

"Here is my post card regarding your April 26 column. I think it's time for a change! I am certain that we are many, many women in the area who feel exactly this way—and yet, feel quite helpless to do anything about it. The format for this country, if there is any way to help at all—is wrong!"

"I agree it's time for a change. Let us not defy the authority but rather respect and assure them that we approve of them making order and not rely on rules." Disposal Company explained that everything that is thrown away on the Leach Packer is crushed and dumped in the new land-fill near Buffalo Grove. The Packer crushes refrigerators as if they were tin.

"Materials pay right out, though," Cole said. "We also have trouble with hot water heaters and metal water softeners. They are usually so filled with sludge that the Packer's blades get warped or bent."

Cole is against it when it comes to the Leach Packer. "It's just as it is, and easy," she explained. "A woman called me and said she had a couch she'd always kept covered and she wondered what she could do with it."

"I suggested various things. She called back to say that none of them would pick it up. She said she guessed she'd just have to run her back as she picked it up. She had not moved and had no room for it."

"It would have been a very nice piece of furniture for a while. I was sure she'd have had it and to see some of the things that are thrown away as well as the people that she gathers antiques, some of which she sells and some she keeps."

"So I said just a good piece for the owner she sold. I said we were going to have brand new Sears sorting machines in the trucks as well as the poorer families who usually are the ones who are the worst of their cars. But, whenever it is used on that truck is crushed you can be sure."

"So I thought that Uncle Williams' oil painting is being thrown away. I just forgot it. He's in the dump."

Time for a Change

men have done a lousy job, I fear."

"I most heartily agree with the letter from the women saying everything has gone far enough. What can we do?"

"Here is my post card regarding your April 26 column. I think it's time for a change! I am certain that we are many, many women in the area who feel exactly this way—and yet, feel quite helpless to do anything about it. The format for this country, if there is any way to help at all—is wrong!"

"I agree it's time for a change. Let us not defy the authority but rather respect and assure them that we approve of them making order and not rely on rules." There you have a cross section of the spirit that is in the majority in our great country. If you want to sit and didn't get around to joining Mrs. By Day, call at 217 S. Arlington Heights Rd. 60053

Disposal Company explained that everything that is thrown away on the Leach Packer is crushed and dumped in the new land-fill near Buffalo Grove. The Packer crushes refrigerators as if they were tin.

"Materials pay right out, though," Cole said. "We also have trouble with hot water heaters and metal water softeners. They are usually so filled with sludge that the Packer's blades get warped or bent."

Cole is against it when it comes to the Leach Packer. "It's just as it is, and easy," she explained. "A woman called me and said she had a couch she'd always kept covered and she wondered what she could do with it."

"I suggested various things. She called back to say that none of them would pick it up. She said she guessed she'd just have to run her back as she picked it up. She had not moved and had no room for it."

"It would have been a very nice piece of furniture for a while. I was sure she'd have had it and to see some of the things that are thrown away as well as the people that she gathers antiques, some of which she sells and some she keeps."

"So I said just a good piece for the owner she sold. I said we were going to have brand new Sears sorting machines in the trucks as well as the poorer families who usually are the ones who are the worst of their cars. But, whenever it is used on that truck is crushed you can be sure."

"So I thought that Uncle Williams' oil painting is being thrown away. I just forgot it. He's in the dump."

Melvin R. Spence Quits Sandburg Principal Post

BY JAN BONE

Melvin R. Spence, principal of Carl Sandburg School in Rolling Meadows, has submitted his resignation to the Board of Education.

Spence has been offered the post of principal at East Maine Junior High School, District 63, in Niles.

He would replace Edward Grodsky, who last week was named superintendent of Prospect Heights District 23.

Spence, who has spent the past four years at Sandburg's principal, came to District 15 from Neal Junior High School in Chicago, where he taught language arts and social studies to eighth graders.

He holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Illinois State University, and received his Master of Arts degree from Roosevelt University in Chicago, where he has completed advanced graduate work in education at Northern Illinois University, DeKalb.

During his years at Sandburg, Spence introduced team teaching to the school.

Melvin R. Spence, principal of Carl Sandburg School in Rolling Meadows, has submitted his resignation to District 15.

Spence has started a student handbook and a student newspaper. He has worked closely with his faculty advisory council, a group of eight teachers who talk over school problems.

IN COOPERATION with other district administrators, Spence has begun an understanding of his resignation to District 15. "There are a lot of exciting and good things happening in District 15," he said.

However, the challenge ahead is one which I can't pass up."

Spence, who lives at 1441 St. James Pl., Arlington Heights, has a wife, Kim, who is a fourth-grade teacher at District 15's Virginia Lake School in Palatine. Their children are Timmy, 8, who attends Wendell School, Arlington Heights, and Scott, 3.

DURING HIS years in District 15, Spence has been active with the Rolling Meadows Youth Commission and with the Palatine Kiwanis Club. He has also helped William Rainey Harper College in its early days of organization, when interned parents used Sandburg School for meetings.

Spence has been active in the Rolling Meadows area in Kinball Hill, Cardinal Drive, Central Road and John R. Bell. In Palatine, the district has Winston Park, Winston Churchill, Stuart R. Padlock, Joel Wood, Pleasant Hill, Plum Grove, Grey M. Sanborn, Virginia Lake and Jane Adams schools.

Spence said he will regret leaving people that he has worked with for a long time. "There are a lot of exciting and good things happening in District 15," he said.

Police Seeking New Blue-Colored Car In Death of Girl

The driver of a dark blue, late model Buick or Chevrolet is being sought by Arlington Heights Police in connection with a hit-and-run accident that took the life of 15-year-old Barbara Tharion Saturday.

Miss Tharion, of 320 S. Belmont, Arlington Heights, died Sunday at Northwestern Community Hospital from injuries received when she was struck, apparently by two cars, on Arlington Heights rd., 120 feet south of Sigurd.

A University of Illinois dental student from Chicago told Arlington Heights Police Tuesday that he saw the car just north of Arlington Heights rd., near the time of the accident. His name, an Arlington Heights girl, was a passenger in his car at the time.

The student told police he saw an object in the street but could not identify it. He said he saw a car southbound on Arlington Heights rd., strike the object and stop. The youth provided police with the description of a car that was about one-half block in front of his car.

THE WOMAN passenger in the car told police she saw the driver of the southbound car get out of his car and look in front of her car.

The accident was reported at 8:40 p.m. by John Linggren of Bellhaven, Pa. Linggren, driver of the southbound car, told police the girl was thrown into the path of his car after the accident was struck by another car northbound on Arlington Heights rd.

Police are appealing to residents who may have been driving in the area of Arlington Heights rd. and Sigurd Saturday night to volunteer information. Police may be contacted at CL 2-7131.

Tharion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Tharion, was told her mother at St. Ann's Episcopal Church, in Arlington Heights, that the girl was a freshman at Arlington High School.

Flooding Plan Could End Prospect Hts. Problems

Specifically, the group will study the possibility for a 100-acre lake and flood control plan developed in the northwestern section of Arlington Heights.

Shafer is director of urban studies for the University of Chicago and has been retained by the village as a consultant for flood control and water management.

ABOUT SIX acres of the development has been dedicated to flood control. The lake and the village has a three-year option to buy an additional four acres of land adjacent to the lake.

Village trustees in Arlington Heights have a plan effort intended to help build out Prospect Heights from its annual McDonald Creek flooding problem.

Trustees John White, Laffey Bessner and George Burdette have been appointed by Mayor John Woods to form a special committee to develop an approach to a master plan for flood control in the northeastern section of the village.

The last part of the development is scheduled for the lake area. Mayor-Nielsen representatives and they plan to hold hearings on the lands of the lake.

Prospect Heights and the village of Wheeling and Buffalo Grove will benefit directly from any flood control plan developed in the northwestern section of Arlington Heights.

They have a tremendous flooding problem and, according to Dr. Shafer's report, the should almost 100 per cent lake care of the Prospect Heights flooding problem," he said.

Day to Aid Jaycees' Sale

Day Publications has gone to the aid of Arlington Heights Jaycees to help save their annual fund-raising drive.

With the charitable campaign about half over, telephone company officials notified Randolph Thomas of the Jaycees that the special phone service for the drive would have to be cancelled because of the telephone strike.

Thomas called The Day Tuesday and was assured that one telephone line would be reserved for taking the Jaycees' sales.

"I called The Day," Thomas said, "and it does look like I will save the day for us more than I hoped for. The drive has a goal of $4,000. The drive began April 27 and will end May 18. Funds collected during the drive will go to help the Clubbrook School for the Mentally Retarded and other charitable programs through the year."

Catholic School Boycott Stirring Little Interest

Little excitement was stirred in the northwest suburbs Tuesday by Chicago radio broadcasts reporting that parents planned to boycott Catholic schools in the archdiocese of Chicago.

The proposed boycott stems from Cardinal John Cody's statement to his archdiocese earlier this year that he is considering barring children from Catholic in poverty-stricken areas to others throughout the Catholic school system.

The announced boycott broadcast over several stations early Tuesday, said members of a group known as Concerned Catholics' Parents United to have their children brought to Catholic schools Friday to protesting the proposed boycott plan. The group is located on Chicago's north side.

JOHN DREISKE

LBJ-Humphrey Picture Clouded

THERE IS IN THE Illinois chapter of the Democratic Party... a hard core of believers who are convinced that President Johnson actually will not be the party's nominee for the Presidency.

Mr. Johnson's March 31 statement that he will not be a candidate nor will he accept the nomination for President was survived by a rather widespread belief that he has not necessarily closed the door.

"The President says he is going to concentrate on bringing peace and... if we do that before convention time he'll undoubtedly become a hot penny," say the believers.

"But there isn't going to be peace in Vietnam by August... By convention time, the picture probably will be much clearer than now."

The possibility at least of it that President Johnson is still in the Democratic nomination picture is certainly material for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

If it becomes increasingly apparent that the President is positively a lame duck, the distracting thought that good old Humphrey is actually just a faithful stand-in for Mr. Johnson will tend to dissipate.

And, if this picture of gloom and doom persists, Humphrey's overbearing and contagious cheerfulness will be a welcome sight on the campaign trail.

With the other candidates being as grimly and dutifully sensible, the Humphrey image wreathed in smiles will attract many seeking someone who can sell them hope in a bright package shining through the gloom.

So the Illinois Democrats, under the command of the one politician (Mayor Daley) who holds the greatest power to shape the party's immediate future, have a real interest in whether or not Humphrey's hopes are to be diluted by any possibility the President might, after all, come back into the nomination picture.

The New Cabinet Officers

The new defense secretary, Clark Clifford, is believing in little else but the fact that he is stirring praise across the government. Clifford is not attempting to cover as much ground as the Pentagon as his predecessor, Robert F. McNamara, but he is concentrating on the important issues and making good use of his power with Congress. He is also pleased by those people who feel that McNamara was indifferent of their ideas and he has surprised those who expected him to make a solid "house" position by showing his great talent to find an acceptable way out of Vietnam. The other new cabinet officer, Commerce Sec. C. R. Smith, is looking more relaxed view of his new responsibilities and is making an effort to build support in Congress and the press.

Politics Getting Rough

The Democrats running for Congress are aware of the fact that Robert Humphrey's backers are running a hard campaign. The Democrats are working to work in the campaign headquarters. They are wary of people with any record of loyalty to the Kennedy wing of the party. The Kennedy headquarters was infiltrated by two young followers of Eugene McCarthy, whose names as soon began to pop up at the details of running in the Clinton and of the Kennedy operation. The two spies were discovered and expelled.

Day by Day

Were You There?

Arlington Heights Village Clerk Jeanne Novotny has a blazer on her elbow.

This blazer came from holding down the elbow while unprecedented numbers of people filed through her office to register to vote last Wednesday and Friday.

At the Wheeling Township Hall, potential voters lined up on Northwest Hwy. at Gibson for the same purpose on Thursday and Friday.

Both offices remained open until just past 9:30 p.m. on Friday when the last of the voters streamed by at the village hall and when the registers ran out of forms at the township hall.

Dorothy Hauff, township clerk, was allowed for the first time to register Arlington Heights residents.

The last state legislature session passed a law increasing the scope of her office to include Arlington Heights residents.

Jeanne, her deputy Jack Durham and two other clerks, Alice Harris and Lorraine Kelly, were swamped when 2,000 potential voters appeared to check their names or to register for the first time.

One thousand, three hundred of them are official voters but only after the village finance office clerk placed in and helped. The involuntary voters were Arlington Wanderers, Lorraine Luetthamer and Kay Hedberg. Without their help, Jeanne does not know how her office would have been able to take care of everyone.

"These days are simply not enough time any more to register the voters," Jeanne said.

"I hope that one of our state legislators will do something about it."

At the township hall, Dorothy had Albert Rebe, Laura Sass and Amanda Peterson working frantically to keep up with the ever-increasing number of potential voters.

Police Douse Flames in Car

Two Arlington Heights patrolmen used fire extinguishers to douse flames coming from a truck in the driveway of Edward C. Coy, 209 S. Denton.

Tuesday a neighbor of the Coy reported to police that a truck was on fire in the driveway. Officers Robert Gert and Jack Weber were able to extinguish the flames with hand fire extinguishers from their squad car.

came running to volunteer from her home near Wheeling when one of her neighbors came home and reported that the crowd was overwhelming. She was quickly pressed into service. They still haven't finished counting.

Jeanne, who has had a great deal of experience with local voter registration, declared she had never seen so many people who had never registered before.

"They included an outpouring of irregulars, a change-of-address people, as well as the young folks who just turned 21. For the benefit of those who did not register, they can do so beginning on the third Tuesday of one month and the third Tuesday of every month through September during regular hours at both offices." It promises to be a most exciting election year.

STRETCHING THE MONEY

High-low manager Carl Peterson pointed out an interesting example of stretching additional food money for golden agers, for the blind, disabled, people with dependent children or people needing general assistance.

The government food stamp program allows people receiving public aid for any of these reasons to supplement their income by buying food stamps. In cases where no public aid is given, persons with a net income of $19 a month or less, depending on the number of persons in a household, are eligible.

For instance, two adult persons living in a single household can receive permission to buy the food stamps if their net income per month is not more than $182. This will allow the purchase of $175 worth of food.

A family of 10 can receive aid if their net monthly income is $490. In cases where certain necessary expenses are unusually high, a household not on public aid may be entitled to buy the food stamps even though the net income is more than the listed amounts.

Carl pointed out all this because he thinks there are probably many golden agers who do not know that they are eligible.

Anyone who would like to ask can do so by contacting the Cook County Department of Public Aid. The stamps are used as currency and are for food only. They cannot be used to purchase liquor, beer, tobacco.

SYMPATHY

A woman with a definite trace of the old South in her voice called to ask that the death of Gov. Lillian Wallace be noted formally.

To all of the people who have deep roots in the Southland, her passing has brought sadness. For the women who called and to all of the residents who feel as she does, please accept our sympathy.

With the death of anyone, especially one as prominent as Gov. Wallace, we all die a little.

how is your rib roast trimmed?

That depends upon where you buy it.

At A&P, we sell only short-cut, 1-inch, even-ready ribs of beef.

The excess Short Ribs are removed and sold at a lower price.

We remove the feather (back) bones for easier carving and cover the area with a thin layer of fat to protect the meat.

We remove the excess wasteful chine bone.

Is all this trimming important to you? Well, on an average five-rib roast, we trim up to 1 1/2 lbs. of excess fat and bone.

At Rib Roast prices, that adds up!

One more thing:

We cut our Rib Roasts only from the first five ribs.

All this makes our Rib Roast truly the "King of Roasts" and a joy to carve.

Next time you buy a Rib Roast, think about these things.

And then think, shouldn't A&P be your store?

Visit to Decorators' Show House

BY MARILYN HELFERS

Spring 1968 was inside and outside when the Decorators' Show House opened its doors to its first visitors. The combined boards of the Park Ridge School for Girls invited their friends to a premiere showing of the first Decorators' Show House in the midwest.

Cocktails, an elegant buffet and music, all under a pink canopy, were arranged by the junior hosts.

Each of the many rooms of "Carobwood," 1404 N. Washington Rd., Lake Forest, originally owned by Col. and Mrs. George Tracy Buckingham has been decorated by a different interior decorator. The house is now open for the public to tour until May 25 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. and from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Tickets will be sold at the door for a $2 donation. Coffee and cocktails will be served under the canopy and boutique items and antique candles will be for sale.

"CAROBWOOD" was started in September, 1929 and completed in June 1930 at a cost of $150,000. The architect, Edwin H. Clark received a national award for his design of the library.

The elegant Tudor and Early Georgian mansion is surrounded by 20 acres of lawn, maple and woods. In 1948 Dr. and Mrs. B. Lottie purchased Carobwood and furnished it with treasures from her castle in Denmark and her villa in Palm Beach and her home in Chicago.

The present owner, Mrs. William J. Hagaman Jr., loved the house to the combined boards of the Park Ridge School for Girls.

Decorating ideas abound throughout the home, some very traditional and others very modern. It was amazing after seeing the house before to see how it has been beautifully transformed by the designers.

MANY GUESTS returned for a second look at the stunning yellow living room with its lemon yellow rug and draperies accented with touches of green, designed by Roy Klipp of Calley's.

One of the most unusual rooms was the young gentlemen's room and bath filled with wild life and complete with a life size statue of a crane with a giant towel in his beak by Bruce Griggs and Frederick Aldridge.

When the antique brass crib in the nursery was collected by interior designer, Sally Wyman, it was in many pieces and she had to have brass screens especially turned to put it together.

Board members from the northwest suburbs helping with the house are Mrs. B. Joseph Cook, Mrs. Robert Hayes, Mrs. William Napp, Mrs. Edgar Stranicek Jr., Mrs. Robert S. Nelson, all of Arlington Heights; Mrs. Leonard F. Ostrom of Mount Prospect; Mrs. Eugene Simpson of Barrington; Mrs. James J. Fall of Inverness; Mrs. John A. Grant, Mrs. Harold Henderson, Mrs. Len Tappin Jr., Mrs. Neil Quinn, Mrs. Edward Mosher and Mrs. Herbert Stoffels, all of Park Ridge.

Entering the Lake Forest mansion, "Carobwood" at the preview party Sunday was G. to Mrs. J. F. Koenen and Robert Hayes, Diana and Robert Donnelly, Jane and Doug Stuart, Barbara and Ed Ferguson and George and Rosanna Sutton, all of Arlington Heights.

The handsome library of "Carobwood" decorated by Lee Blake is only one of the many rooms on display at the Decorators' Show House, 1404 N. Washington Rd., Lake Forest until May 25.

Nursing Home Plans to Be Revised

The new Arlington Park Children's addition where new Nursery Room will be opened for the first time tomorrow. The annual benefit ball for the Northwest Community Hospital will be held there Saturday night. The new addition is 340 feet long and five stories high. All five floors are served by the glass-enclosed elevator in the center.

Comparing to the new Nursery Room at Arlington Park it was being put down this week. The room, part of the largest hospital and converted facility in the Chicago suburbs, opens Saturday. Located on the second floor of the new Nursery addition in the Arlington Children's, it is served by a new glass-enclosed elevator.

It's "best to the drawing board" again, with plans for the proposed Northwest Nursing Home on North Arlington Heights Rd.

Wednesday night the Arlington Heights Plan Commission continued the public hearing on the facility until May 22 to give the architect and developers time to revise their plans.

Dr. Keith Wurts & Associates are petitioning for approval of a 190-bed nursing home adjacent to the Northwest Medical Center at 140 N. Arlington Heights Rd.

Commission member, however, were not satisfied with the plan they saw. They wanted to know if the service entrance could be relocated with the deviation of the land, who owned the land and who had title and options on the land and how the entrance would be arranged.

Wurts presented plans that showed a two-story building with a partial basement, but said he would present a three-story building.

"THIS WOULD be a better building if we could make out of the ground and keep the service area on the first floor level," said Harry Morgan, architect for the project.

You have a lot of determinations that should have been decided on a planned development," said James H. Hinkle, chairman of the plan commission.

"Give us, not necessarily working drawing, but one with enough detail. Have the large dimensions made. Aims will work."

Dr. Wurts said The Day he was not sure if he was given a set estimate of the project or a date of completion of the nursing home.

He said plans for the nursing home would be approved.

ing home must be approved, only by the Arlington Heights Plan Commission and the Village Board, but also by the county and state departments of health and possibly the Federal Housing Authority and the Medicare program.

Dr. Wurts told the plan commission members that PHA financing was being considered for the home. He said the standards set for the nursing home would qualify for acceptance of Medicare patients but, said no decision on Medicare was reached.

Learning Seminar Planned

Parents, teachers, and interested community members are invited to a seminar on learning disabilities, scheduled from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. May 11 at Sacred Heart of Mary High School, 3800 W. Central Rd., Rolling Meadows.

Speakers will include Dr. Corinne Kass of the U. of C. School of Education, Dr. James McCarthy, director of special services for Schaumburg-Hoffman Estates School District #4, and Dr. Patrick Ashbush of the National College of Education.

The theme of the conference will be "Developing Realistic Attitudes About Learning Disabilities."

Spouses of the seminar are members of COULD, Council on Understanding Learning Disabilities, an Arlington-area group of parents interested in children with perceptual problems whose handicaps are not primarily caused by limited mental capacity or emotional disturbances.

Full details on the seminar are available from Bob Minkoff, HE7-1000, ext. 304. A $3 charge for those attending the seminar was necessary to defray expenses.

Papers Thrown From Bicycles

A 13-year-old Arlington delivery boy in Arlington Heights told police Wednesday that two older boys threw his bicycle over and threw his papers from the bike.

The youth said the incident occurred in a back yard of the 1100 block of North Highland.

Racetrack Readies Weekend Spectacular

Arlington Park is ready to make good this weekend on its promise to open new facilities. Today the largest racetrack and conference facility in the Chicago suburbs serves 2,000 people. Tomorrow Arlington Park will open its new Nursery and Mid-America rooms, capable of serving 3,500 people. But that is only the beginning of this weekend's festivities.

Sunday Arlington Park opens its new Round Table banquet and conference center. This new building can serve dinners and provide conference facilities for up to 2,500 people.

Monday Arlington Park will have the capacity to serve dinners to 6,000 people. All this is in addition to the regular capacity of the park's Carousel Restaurant. All three of the banquet and conference facilities will be open.

Charges Still Open On Driver Cited In Teen-ager's Death

John Lindgren, 34, of Bensenville, Pa., appeared Wednesday in Arlington Heights Circuit Court to face charges of driving too fast for conditions. He was the driver of one of the cars involved in an accident Saturday night that took the life of 15-year-old Barbara Thomson, of 320 S. Belmont, Arlington Heights.

Judge Francis Olmstead found the charges "arbitrary with no basis in fact." The legal term means that charges could be reinstated at a later date, if police investigation revealed further details on the case.

Arlington Heights Police are still searching for the driver of a late-model, dark blue Oldsmobile or Buick that may have been involved in the case.

Prospect Heights Join Municipal Conference

The Northwest Municipal Conference acquired a new member last night, as the Prospect Heights Improvement Assn. accepted an invitation to join.

PHIA President Ralph Van Patten predicted the association's "almost unanimous" voting by saying, "We're happy to have them as members."

THINK the reasons are obvious," Woods said. "Prospect Heights is a growing community and it should have a liaison with other communities. The fact that it's unrepresented is a disadvantage."

Conference President Ted C. Wines, a resident of the Wheeling Village Road, was the unveiling speaker.

Since last night's PHIA meeting was the association's annual town meeting, the agenda included election of officers and new representatives for the 1968-69 term.

The motion was made from the floor that the entire area of recommendations submitted by the association's non-voting committee be accepted.

The motion passed unanimously.

Those elected are Ralph Van Patten, president; Andy M. Palm, treasurer; and Henry G. Zoli, secretary.

ELECTED AREA representatives are: George J. Brown, Jr., president; Donald F. Colby, Harry Hunsbaker, Carl Kestel, George Kestel, Mr. S. C. Strangman and William Williams.

Certain walls have been erected, making it possible to have rooms of almost any size for conferences ranging from 10 to 1,000. It will be possible to serve as many as five different conferences at one time in the new Room.

Stone Breaks Windshield

Norman Rombach of 12 W. Central Rd. in Arlington Heights, told Arlington Heights Police Wednesday that the rear window of his car was broken when a stone was thrown at it.

He told police he was driving on Rand Rd. west of Arlington Heights Rd., when someone threw a stone at his car and broke the window.

WHEN the motion to join was put to a vote, it was a 10-0 vote, won from the crowd. There was only one "no."

Membership in the PHIA will cost the PHIA $40 in dues annually. Van Patten said.

The next step is to find a representative and stenographer to attend the conference.

Lamb Named to Unit Probing
1966 Murder of Valerie Percy

An Arlington Heights policeman was one of three men named Tuesday in an article liquid charged with investigating the 1966 murder of Valerie Percy, daughter of Senator Charles Percy.

Robert Lamb, a veteran plainclothes detective with the Illinois State Police, was one of three policemen named by Ron Randolph, Illinois director of public safety, in the investigation.

Lamb was one of the first policemen on the scene in September 1966 when Percy's body was discovered in the Perry home at Kenilworth, Ill., who was off duty at the time the crime was discovered, received word of the murder while asleep in his home in Arlington Heights.

For the first week after the murder, Lamb and a team of detectives from the state police worked around the clock investigating homicide of lead. None of them led to the killer of Percy's daughter.

Police officials assigned Lamb and other detectives to the case for more than a year. Lamb's office was in a basement room of the Kenilworth Police Department. During that time, he and other officers investigated more than 1,100 clues scattered during the investigation.

The news of Lamb's appointment was announced Monday after the Perry case was closed by the announcement that he was going to be promoted to the rank of sergeant leading to the arrest and conviction of his daughter's killer.

Percy said that he had not offered a reward earlier because he didn't want the police swamped with false and misleading information. After the case was closed, Randolph said that the state police were being given complete jurisdiction in the case. The Kenilworth police had over all information on the case to Lamb and his partners.

Lamb is a veteran policeman. Tall and blond, he looks more like a detective executive than a detective. His father with the state police has been described by successful investigators of almost every crime in Illinois over the past 25 years.

Under police rules, neither Lamb nor his partners are eligible for the $50,000 reward offered for information received by law authorities anyone will be to the team. The three men will then investigate the information.

In the event of an arrest, a three-man committee, headed by Gov. Otto Kern, will decide who gets the reward money.

I am serving on this committee as a private citizen and not as a police officer, Randolph said yesterday. "I have been keenly interested in this case ever since the murder."

RANDOLPH SAID that, as cases come in to the Illinois State Police, the policemen will be added to the team investigating the case. The men assigned to the unit will be selected by the state police and will have no other assignments.

For Lamb, the Percy murder has become a stress in his past 25 years. He has traveled all over the country inspecting schools and persons who claim to have information pertinent to the case.

Lamb has spent all his on-duty time in the last 19 months and much of off-duty time in the last 19 months in the case. He has traveled all over the country inspecting schools and persons who claim to have information pertinent to the case.

According to Randolph, the men who are assigned to the case "until it is solved."

for buildings is organized in five categories as follows: operation of plant $289,410; maintenance $165,230; new charges, $12,000; capital outlay, $150,750; and contingencies, $52,110.

Final plans are expected to be made on the attendance and the special programs. It is proposed that the Berkeley Square area children attend the outlying Ivy Hill School where 12 new school rooms are being completed this summer. The more than 80 children from Berkeley Square now are being bused to Greentree School.

The Ivy Hill School would be the individual responsibility of each family.

Consideration will be given to a plan for District 25 to join the other grade school districts of Arlington Heights, Schaumburg and Melrose Park in the developing special education facilities to train children who are not capable of keeping pace with the regular classes but who can progress in special teaching programs.

Final plans will be approved tonight for the June graduations to be conducted by District 25 junior high schools. The board during the winter decided to hold of graduation exercises at each of the three junior high schools rather than holding the graduation at Arlington High School as has been the case in past years. The graduation exercises will be held on June 13 and 14 at the new Thomas Junior High School.

500 Exhibits Expected

High Schools Plan Art Fair

High school artists are setting their brushes down and preparing their work for display in the first District 214 exhibit.

Five hundred art exhibits, 100 from each of the five district high schools, will be displayed in the Randhurst Shopping Center mall from May 16 through May 26.

The exhibit will feature work from all of the grades employing varied media including: paintings, lithographs, etchings, silk screen and block prints, ceramics, sculpture and jewelry.

The idea for the exhibit originated at meetings of district chairman. A group of the art teachers got together and suggested to Ed Fischer, district fine arts co-ordinator, that a district-wide art show be organized. Sunday, May 19, a special reception will be held at the exhibit. Invitations have been sent to faculty, parents of the artist, civic leaders and administrators. Refreshments will be served and students will demonstrate the different art media.

Four hundred posters designed by Forest View High School art student Nancy Talbot advertising the art show have been distributed throughout the area.

District schools represented will be Prospect, Arlington, Forest View, Wheeling and 128 Grove.

Invitation to the Ball

Dialogue

"You know, libraries all over the world have been getting along for years with the image of dusty bookshelves, hushed reading rooms, and cranky librarians, but someone has come up with an idea to make the place swing."

"What? I doubt if the library boards, at least in our area, will stand for turning the libraries into community meeting centers or something like that."

"That isn't exactly what the idea is. Actually, the plan is to take the libraries, or at least the books, to the places that swing."

"It was thought up by the president of the Chicago Library Board, Ralph G. Newman."

"Oh oh. Already I can see what you mean. Tell me the wondrous news."

"It's wonderful, all right. Newman wants to stack library books in taverns and police stations and other places where people gather."

"In taverns and police stations?"

"Certainly. Newman says that people are always citing the library or the newspaper to settle their arguments. They want to know what Ty Cobb's lifetime average was or what poet said what."

"So he asks, why not give them their own neighborhood reference libraries in their favorite haunts?"

"Why not? It sounds like it has possibilities."

"Indeed it does, Newman."

You thought the phone strike was over.

It was. But this is a new one.

Wasn't the telephone strike settled last week-end?

Yes, but another strike has been called. The cost is the same, but the roles have been reversed. Unfortunately, the results are the same.

What's happening now?

On April 18th, the Communications Workers of America went on strike to obtain wage increases for operators. Once picket lines were set up by the operators, telephone installers and repairmen refused to cross. Even though they themselves weren't striking, now, the installers and repairmen are on strike and many operators aren't crossing their picket lines.

How will this new strike affect telephone service?

If you now have telephone service, the effects of this strike will be about the same as the one called last month. Most calls should go through with little or no delay. Of course, there is a substantial backlog of installation orders that we were not able to service because of the strike. Now we will be able to clear up that backlog as soon as we had hoped. Our management and supervisory personnel are working hard to fill the gap.

What about repairs and installations?

We wish we could handle all requests immediately, but we can't. Those involving public safety will, of course, be carried for. If you need a phone installed or repaired, continue to call the usual numbers—your Service

Didn't the operators and their union come to an agreement with Illinois Bell?

Yes, last week-end, the CWA and Illinois Bell settled with the acceptance of a substantial wage increase and fringe benefit package that will be spread over the next three years. When applied to all our employees, this package would add $56 million a year to our costs.

Weren't the installers and repairmen offered an equally generous package?

Of course, but their union, the IBEW, has a far rejected this offer, even though the CWA hailed the wage and fringe benefit package as "precedent setting."

Representative for installations, Repair Service for repairs. They can tell you what kind of service to expect.

What can be done to get the best phone service during this new strike?

Two things. First, try looking up phone numbers in your directory instead of calling Information. It's easier and faster. In case where information is the only way to get a number, like a new number that's not listed in the phone book, we ask your patience and apologize for any delay.

Second, dial your calls direct. Call us just yourself! Should Long Distance Direct calls anywhere in the country, you need in the Area Code of the city you're calling, and the phone number. Don't know the Area Code? You'll probably find it by looking in the front pages of your phone book. To get information in a distant city, just dial the city's Area Code, then 55-1212—the operator there will help you.

By the way, Direct Dial calls are not only easier and faster, they get through at low station-to-station rates.

Suppose there's an emergency?

All emergency calls, like fire and police, the military, doctor and hospital, will get top priority.

When will the strike be over?

We know some of you are unconvinced by this strike and are waiting for service. We're trying our best to end the strike as soon as possible. We appreciate your patience.

Success Goes to the Dogs

If you have the feeling your dog is insecure and suffering from an inferiority complex, you may wish to call it attention to a new story out of Fairfax, Calif. It's an Horatio Alger tale about a dog named Charlie of dubious parentage, with no social status and no looks. Just a mongrel. But this pooch is so homesy, so impetuous that he communicates as though he invented Dale Carnegie. So he's become a top canine model for television commercials, convincing millions of housewives and housemen—get to the handsome and beautiful paraded dogs by their animal management.

Mother's Day, Take Mom Out of the Kitchen

BY MARILYN HELFERS
Woman's Editor

Sunday, Mother's Day, is one day to take Mom out of the kitchen. To assist the young home economists students in the family who would like to surprise mother and cook dinner for her, we suggest a dinner menu guaranteed to please her.

Under the capable supervision of Chef Dad, the young cooks should have no problems. (But mom, there's no fair peeping at the little extra menus in the kitchen.)

To begin dinner, serve chilled tomato juice accented with a dash of Worcestershire Sauce, salt and pepper. For the main course—a roast, for a change try a roast leg of lamb, which you can serve with a sauce if you like.

For vegetables, serve sliced potatoes and a cream vegetable of your choice. A tossed salad of lettuce, tomatoes and sliced cucumbers with your favorite bottled dressing is easy to prepare. . . . Just set the washed lettuce picnic and wrap it in a damp towel and put it in the refrigerator until you're ready to serve it.

Then put it in a bowl, add the cut up tomatoes and slices of cucumber, pour the dressing over it and toss it until all the lettuce is covered with dressing.

For an easy dessert you could serve ice cream topped with chocolate sauce, but if you're a more experienced cook, try this Oatmeal Cake topped with broiled frosting. . . . and don't forget the coffee.

Good luck and enjoy your day in the kitchen.

LEG OF LAMB WITH BORSERADSH SAUCE
1 leg of lamb (sufficiently about 6 to 7 lbs.)

Pepper
Crushed rosemary leaves

1 pint (2 cups) dairy sour cream
3 to 4 tablespoons prepared horseradish

Meanwhile, blend sour cream, horseradish, salt and dash onion salt; chill. Garnish lamb with water cress; serve with horseradish.

OATMEAL CAKE

1 cup quick cooking oatmeal
1 1/2 cups boiling water
1/4 cup shortening
1 cup light brown sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup white sugar
2 eggs

A Rebel Against the Status of Children

BY BOBBIE PEAT

Chris Peat is the mother of three children, 13, 10 and 7. The Peat family moved to Arlington Heights last August and are originally from St. Louis, Mo. Peat has some interesting thoughts for mothers and we invite your responses.

I don't sure why but I seem to have been born a rebel. No matter what current trend of thought is prevalent at the time, I'm always of the other persuasion. Perhaps it is the paradox in me. Am I the American always for the under-dogs?

At this stage of my life, I am rebelling against children or more specifically—their status. I turn it seems that the world is upside down. Every year and let's face it, I'm not so very young any more.

We mothers have their own needs, their schedules, their demands. We are slaves to our children—all in the name of motherhood. It sounds so noble, so self-sacrificing, to turn down a bridge date, or a golf game because it conflicts with Sue's dancing lesson or John's Little League.

In fact, it is hard to rebel because we all like to sound noble every once in a while. But then again, my sainted mother, who gave up everything imaginable for me, didn't and up with exciting children. I wonder if my brother and I were worth the price?

ONE TIME, when I was quite sick and unable to get out of bed, I told the doctor how poorly I felt because I was not taking care of the children. They were taking care of me. I shall never forget his answer.

"Just remember that your job is to train them to grow up and accept responsibility. You've done that. You've shown your children how to give, how let them practice a little. Every once in a while she even cooks the entire meal herself. Again, you must be kind, or stay far away during the creative part of the preparation. It staggers the imagination. But now the 7-year-old is eager to try his culinary talents, and the 7-year-old cannot wait until she can 'get a whole week of her own to do dishes'."

CHAUFFEURING is one of the services I have discontinued—except when absolutely necessary, or when it is convenient for me. An exception is made when the temperature has dropped to zero and below.

But until then, the children are on their own. They have warm clothes and all types of rain gear, and it really doesn't hurt them at all. To the contrary, they are healthier than before.

They are developing a strong constitution and very muscular body. My teenage daughter is a bit disturbed by that last fact.

IT MAY SOUND as if I sit around the house with three willing slaves bowing to my every whim. Not so. But I do have time to sit and enjoy my finer dinner coffee with my husband.

With a little more free time, I am my own woman. I give me a delightful feeling of being alive. I even like being by myself again.

When my children begin to complain that "the other side of the coin" is "I'm tired," I remember that, secure in the knowledge that "I am doing it for their own good. And when they say, "Give Mom, you have all the fun," I can relax comfortably and say,

"Of course, I should. I am older than you. I'm being a grown-up woman and you, nobody would ever stop being a child, now would they?"

"Believe me, it pays off. My 13-year-old has taken to get-

Teen-agers Debate SDS High School Chapter

BY TOM WALSH

Arlington Heights first informed the teen-agers yesterday with an angry homologue and a handful of policemen and ended on the heels of some non-boring water.

"I've got six kids here who have to cross the line to get to West-Fremont tomorrow proposed as he stood on his high heels watching 20-year-old teen-agers plant themselves in Memorial Park across from his home. "I don't care if the kids want to smoke that stuff. They know it's against the law. I'm going to be in the house right now and call the police and press disorderly conduct charges," the homologue said.

The group, seemingly unconcerned and unimpressed by the resident's threat, began to order drinks. The teens were meeting to kick around the idea of organizing SDS for Democratic Society (SDS).

chapters in District 214 High Schools. Their over-all opinions were that district administrators were ordering students right of assembly and freedom of speech concerning certain "nonconventional" topics.

THE GROUP protested the group to the U.S. Army. They were allowed to come into the school and some boys to travel 100 miles to napalm innocent women and children," but groups such as the S.D.S. were not allowed to recruit for its organization.

The members of the high school district contended that the school was not in a position to "back" any organization. It was stated that it would be doing so by allowing the school to use the facilities for recruiting and assembling. They also explained that the Army visited the schools only on specified career days when numerous professionals were represented, pointing out that the Army is a career whereas the S.D.S. is not.

The debate was interrupted momentarily as three Arlington Heights Police Department officers and a single motorcycle pulled alongside the group.

A spokesman explained to the gathered teen-agers that a complaint had been made and all persons under the age of 18 were to extinguish their cigarettes. The officer said that he was happy the group was using the park facilities and requested that they be careful not to repeat their new open assembly gathering. The police then left the park.

THE NEW-LEFT speaker expressed surprise at the police department's politeness and carried on a tirade against the educational system. He strongly pushed the idea that schools are merely tools of the society and are used to socialize the student. He said they have tried the social road of the dehumanizing.

Back and forth the debate rambled. Finally, as dusk fell, the teen-agers began to disperse. Supplies began to be sold. A couple of teens sprang up to the meeting and journaled... quietly and peacefully.

Principals Cool to Protests

The principals of Arlington and Prospect High School students against administration policies received coolly by both school principals Thursday night.

A group of students met in Memorial Park Thursday to protest the school administrator's policy of allowing U.S. Army officials to appear in the building to discuss career opportunities, but to refuse students permission to distribute literature about the Student for Democratic Society (SDS). Principal Bruno Wacker of Arlington High School remarked, "I don't know of any established policy. We would allow any organization to come into the school as long as it has sponsorship and supervision. We are obligated to provide supervision and act as a check on what organizations we are letting in."

"AS I understand it, the SDS is a national group and I am not familiar with its objectives. I've heard it is pretty far left, but I've never been approached by that group."

Wacker said that one boy was caught at Arlington High School distributing leaflets concerning Chicago peace marches, but he indicated that no one from the SDS had approached him.

Unlike Wacker, Alvin Kuskie, principal of Prospect High School, said that no such organization should be allowed to advertise in a school building.

"It doesn't matter if it is a church group or any kind of an organization," he said. One girl had been caught distributing the SDS literature at his school, he said.

Police Still Seek Clues In Accident

Some residents have responded to the plea from the Arlington Heights police regarding a fatal hit-and-run accident in the village last week.

Chief L. W. Calderwood said the department has received "this and piece of information from motorists who were driving in the area of Arlington Heights Rd. and Sigurd at 8:49 p.m. Sunday, Thursday, 15, of 320 S. One driver who hit the girl reported the accident to police. He is John Lindgren, 34, of Bensenville, Ill. Calderwood again urged any citizens who might have been in the area at the time and can supply information to

Sport of Kings to Return To Arlington Park Monday

BY RICHARD CRABB

The sport of kings will return to Arlington Park Monday.

The Arlington Park track will have a special session on the opening day of the 1968 racing season. With any luck, from the weather a crowd of 18,000 to 25,000 persons is expected to attend. Escapes for Sunday, racing will continue until Sept. 9 with crowds on the big days running up to 40,000 and even 50,000.

During the 103-day season, approximately 1,750,000 persons will attend. No other sports in the Chicago area annually attracts such a gain.

Only in present winning years can the Chicago Cubs or White Sox match such figures and the Chicago Bears will play before last season's 200,000 fans in a season.

Arlington Park racing has willower approximately $160 million during the season that is less than four months long. Of that amount, $5 million is returned to the bettors as win money. Half of the remainder, 15 per cent, perhaps $12 million will go to the treasurer of the state, making Arlington Park the largest State of Illinois lottery.

Another indication of the scope of the operation in Arlington Park this season is that when the horses owned by the winning horse will total more than $6,200,000. That would be the richest race, the Arlington-Washington Futurity, will be run on the Arlington track. The stakes will be $375,000.

The race will provide the winning jockey with a prize of $37,000.

THERE ARE other ways to measure the expense of the Arlington season. For example, each morning a truck from the First National Bank of Chicago pulls up to the entrance of the Arlington Park clubhouse and delivers $1 million in gold bars during the day in making change at the betting windows. The bills range from $1 to $100. On an average day the bank total approximately $15 million although on record days the amount wagers can top $3 million. The average crowd is approximately 16,000.

Arlington Park also has the largest stable area of any track in the United States. There are more than 2,000 horses in the Arlington stable. There will be 1,500 horses on hand by the time the season opens Monday afternoon. Horses have been coming for several years from far flung places, but especially from Kentucky, Florida and New York.

The rivalry of the thoroughbred racing world will come to Arlington Park sometime during the spring or summer. Duane's image will appear at the Arlington Park racing track this summer if the horse is cleared by a hearing Monday of drug-charged former trainer. Duane's image had to debut at Arlington Park last summer. In that first race horse finished 19th.

BY MAXINE TYMA

The first step toward water and sewer improvements on Arlington Heights and Algonquin Rds. was taken Monday by the Board of Local Improvements last night when members voted to recommend the project to the Village Board of Directors.

The proposed improvements would extend north on Arlington Heights Rd. to the Illinois Tollway and on Algonquin Rd. from Goshert Rd. west to approximately Golf Rd.

The usually tedious and not formal public hearing of the BOLI were dismissed last night when inquiring citizens wanted a rapid resolution and sewer work with board members.

Carl Klehn of the Charles Klehn & Sons Nursery on Algonquin and Arlington Heights Rds. said he had large sums of money to the village for special projects and does not think this particular one was immediately necessary for the area.

"An assessment for that piece of property with a few people is really a hardship. Essentially the increased value will be there, but not now for my particular use," Klehn said.

"I PAID $18,000 for a hard money. And that isn't as deductible. After taxes, it's doubly hard," he said.

"Thank you, Carl, but I don't think we're going to have to have a tag day for Carl Klehn," said Russell Ogilvie, president of BOLI.

"If I understand you correctly, you're going to have two pipe down the street and that constitutes the sewer."

Richard B. Ogilvie late today is to invade the home territory of his former rival provement," asked a Martin La. resident.

Ogilvie said he got down to the nitty gritty of this thing. When will you be getting the sewer work done? he asked.

Charles Tower, engineer for Arlington Heights, said the board must acquire some more on about 30 percent of the land. He said the proposal, if approved, would come before the village board May 20, but it might be until October before the individual cost of the project is known.

"If anybody would dedicate an acreage, the whole project would move faster and would be less expensive," said Harold Kasper, BOLI member.

Ed Burke of Bahrke & Burke, Inc., said he would like to see the project move forward.

Letter Denies Ogilvie Backed Cain for Head of Crime Panel

In the June 11 primary for the Republican nomination for governor.

This occasion is the candidates night of the Peoria County Republican Central Committee.

The meeting before the Peoria central committee begins at 7:30 at the Howard Johnson Inn in Peoria.

The day has received that Ogilvie plans to reveal a communication he wrote a week ago and reconstructed a similar sewer and water ruin under and across Salt Creek.

At that meeting, a letter from Rockford attorney, Illinois Crime Commissioner Richard Canfield was read. Ogilvie had said that he did not back Cain for head of the panel under federal indictment for aiding the crime underground in the Chicago area.

Canfield's letter, addressed to Rich Township Republican Committee, Sen. Arthur Gunther, said it is "my definite recollection that Dick Ogilvie, who was then Co. County sheriff, advised me, if not all of the members of the committee that Mr. Cain was a good candidate for the position."

He said there is a strong possibility that Mr. Cain would be selected.

His present director, Charles Canfield, said he was willing to accept the appointment.

What Kept Village Busy Lately? Here's What

Arlington Heights residents who ask of their village officials, "What have you done for us lately?" can turn to a listing of 32 improvements in the annual budget.

In making his annual report, L. A. Hanson, village manager said: "The only test of a plan is performance. Before making the plan for a new year, it is, therefore, appropriate to measure our 1967-68 experience against our program. Some of these results are based directly on the budget; some follow indirectly from the environment of good government which the budget help create."

LISTED In the review of 1967-68 operations are the following projects completed by the village officials:

- Landscaping of the central business district parking areas and the accomplishment of one-third of the landscaping plan on railroad right-of-way for a cost of $12,000.
- Eighty more free shopper parking spaces in the central business district at a cost of $110,000 for land and improvements.
- Purchase of property at 25 S. Val for $25,000 for addition to the village-owned Dunton off-street parking lot.

- The Board of Trustees approved the installation of a $42,000 tornado and disaster warning system, 50 per cent of which will be reimbursed through Civil Defense.
- Installation of a modern communication system in the Police Department at a cost of $28,000.
- Addition of four new police officers and five full-time firemen.
- Full-time police constables to Arlington and Forest View High School Districts with five-sixths of the salary costs paid by High School District 214.

- Expansion of the aquadrom facilities in the police department.

- Renewing and painting of the 1957 fire truck number at a cost of $1,500.
- Completion of a plan for a new four south side fire station.

- PURCHASE of 58 acres for solid waste disposal at a cost of $300,000 payable over 10 years. The operation started March 14 at the site. The landfill project will accommodate the disposal of refuse for the village for 15 years and the site then will be used for recreation.
- Renovating and enlarging of office space of the public Works Department including the employees' locker and lunch rooms, at a cost of $17,000.
- Addition of five pieces of equipment to the village fleet at a cost of $15,300.

Dialogue

"I see that you have an armful of printed cardboards. Are you in the sign business, Aunt?"

"Yes and No."

"What kind of an answer is that?"

"It's the correct kind of answer for our confused ones. I'm handling signs — but I plan to discontinue them in such a way that signs will be completely abolished. Which gives you the 'No' part."

"That's a drastic step. You mean 'sell' and 'Entrance' and 'danger' R.R. Crossing and other important notices would be done away with?"

"Some signs would of course be retained. But the rest would have to go."

"What started you off on this sign-banning binge?"

"Recently a Chicago housewife suggested to a newspaper that I should be the next sign 'Bureau of Signs, Signs' and so on, the sign-makers have a double line for hurried customers to get up around the house."

"So, I mean that sign is good once without any trouble."

"So old Mrs. Harriet Mother, she proposed a motion for her sisters 'Take out the Garbage, Do your Homework, Stop Fighting, Turn Down the TV' and so on."

"You mean dear old Dad might start sticking up plastic signs reading 'No Car, Can't Have the Car,' or

'Don't Use My Electric Shaver on the Dog or 'Keep Your Cotton-Pickin' Claws off the Phone'?"

"There's it. And I'm sure that other mad women would soon be visible on signs created by the younger set."

"Don't you think it might lead to considerable confusion among communications within the family?"

"Just the opposite. The communications gap, from father to son, from mother to the family level, has been closed. I'm afraid just because wherever you turn your eyes today on a sign, telling you what to do, where to go, where to be, where to be."

"After a while you think it's really under a sign. 'No Smoking' sign that you'll pulling away from their main

"I grant you that it's a good time as any to start a campaign to take down all signs and force people to use the resources available to improve the communications situation."

"I'm not sure if that would be the best of the situation for you as a friend, I fear I must refer to your proposal as a sign of the times. And I'm getting scared to say it."

"I'm reminded of a friend's character carrying a sign on a Chicago airport. It said 'Report! The End is Nigh.' And my friend said, 'The end of what?'"

This year
Mother's Day
is different.

There's a phone strike on.
But here's how to get your call through faster.

1. Know the Area Code.
Most Area Codes are listed in the front pages of your telephone directory.

2. Know the phone number.
If you don't have it, you can call direct to Long Distance Information. Just dial Mother's Area Code, plus 555-1212 and ask the Operator there to look up her number.

3. Dial direct.
If you dial your own Long Distance call to Mother, you'll have the best chance of getting through without delay, and you'll enjoy low station-to-station rates.

4. Dial early.
The night before is best. If you call Sunday, make it in the morning or early afternoon, if you can.

Because phone channels are so busy on Mother's Day, many calls may be delayed—even those you dial direct. When you hear a busy signal, wait a few minutes and dial again. We appreciate your cooperation.

Surprise and Shock

By Catherine O'Donnell

It comes as a surprise and in some cases as a shock to discover just how expensive it is to send a package to a serviceman in Vietnam. The packages are sent through regular postal means until they arrive in San Francisco at the Army Post Office and then they are mailed free from there to South Vietnam.

Just getting a package to San Francisco is the quickest way to discourage any individual or group from trying to send money. If every owner deserved every possible break, it's the men and women in the armed forces.

In this day of big spending, it might be a good idea for our Congressmen and our Senators to find out for once provision could be made for the wives, mothers and interested civilians who just want to send something to a serviceman in that remote country.

STILL TIME

Village Clerk Jeanne Novosky is sending copies of the column on voter registration to whoever she hopes can change the number of days on which new cards are issued. Jeanne, who should know, says there just isn't enough time allowed for the yearly avalanche.

Citizens who wish to vote in the November Presidential election may register at the Arlington Heights Village Hall or at the Wheeling Township Hall any day during business hours from June 18 through Sept. 15.

LUCKY FIVE

Five Girl Scouts from the troop that meets at the First Methodist Church have planned to know all there is to know about Arlington Heights. The young men under the guidance of Mrs. Fay Cornell, are starting on the long road toward earning their Community Badges.

They will visit The Day and learn all about newspapers and how the stories are gathered and put together. They will visit the Park District offices and a special park and learn about parks and they'll probably attend a Village Board of Trustees meeting.

They'll only be able to peek in the windows of the Historical Museum because it is not opened yet but they'll learn about the history of Arlington Heights through any other source.

"I think it's enjoy it as much as the girls," Mrs. Cornell said. "They always have so much fun that it's a pleasure being with them."

The girls are Donna Belantini, Tammy Allen, Nancy Zinn, and Anne Cornell. The judges for the Saturday Dog Contest, sponsored by the Market and by Franklin, will be Chief Harvey Caceres, Village Trustee Chuck Bennett, and this writer. We've all been assured that there will be no best of breed classification because the majority of the dogs in the contest are of mixed breed.

The judge for the dog show will be the same judge who will be in the contest. It was for the judge for the dog show. It was for the judge for the dog show.

The judge for the dog show will be the same judge who will be in the contest. It was for the judge for the dog show. It was for the judge for the dog show.

What is a Mother?

Right--A mother is someone to show your finger painting and school papers to. (Mrs. Allen Applegate of Arlington Heights and her children, Kathleen and Ellen, 6½; John 2-½ and Brian, 3 mo.)

Left--A mother is someone who feeds you, and looks at the picture you're coloring and watches you ride your horse...all at the same time.

Right--A mother is someone who shows you how to plant your own garden.

Above--A mother is someone who'll give you a bike ride or ride bikes with you.

A mother is someone who can fix supper, peel an apple and house a baby in his apt...all at the same time.

How Not to Be a Mother

BY GERRY WALSH

Sydney Harris admits in one of his recent columns that a book titled "How Not to Play Chess" actually taught him more about the pitfalls and dangers of the game than any manual of positive instruction. He points out the great dearth of books on "How Not to..." Well, I'm not too busy being a wife and mother to write a book; yet after many years of motherhood it was inevitable that I should learn a few negative directives. They are: Be horrified when you find out that you're pregnant. Complain constantly for nine months. Choose what sex your baby must be, before it is born. Put him on a tight schedule; never cuddle or rock him, force him to eat, and toilet train him before he is two years old.

KEEP HIM penned up and immaculate. Allow no creeping, crawling or exploring. Shout "NO-NO" at him constantly, then slap him when "NO" becomes his favorite word. Buy a room full of toys.

St. Peter PTL Meets Tonight

The Parent Teacher League of St. Peter Lutheran School will meet at 8 tonight in the school cafeteria to hear guest speaker Mary Ann Huescher discuss "The Library, its importance in the Over-all Educational Program."

Miss Huescher is the librarian at St. Paul's Lutheran School in Skokie and a student of library science. She will discuss libraries in general and com-

Use TV as a baby sitter. Have a quick temper. Holler most of the time. Be nervous. "Hate kid noise." Reject all creative, messy material, i.e. sand, clay, paint, paste, etc. Maintain an immaculate house at all times. Be a dastardly chaser. Carefully teach him prejudice by cliché and bad example. Keep vacillating in your discipline; never praise him. Give him everything he wants, especially a very large allowance. Take long vacations without him - or send him to a strict camp for the entire summer. Have a Sunday school "canood" drive him, drop him off, come home and read the paper. Never force him to assume any responsibilities for routine chores. Insist on good grades - take no cognizance of his native ability or some teacher's unfunnes. Choose an elite college; object to his choice of career.

PICK OUT HIS wife - then keep on "helping them out."

Tell them both how to raise your grandchildren. Spoil the grandchildren. Expect him to put you before his wife and family. Be jealous of his in-laws.

All the negative things that mothers do are too many to enumerate, but this is also true of fathers, doctors, teachers, businessmen, children. Most mothers are not geniuses, patient, understanding, pretty and slender - or even excellent cooks. But mothers are loving and the virtue, plus their many more, makes them more than all the "How to" or "How not to" manuals in the world.

Gerry Walsh (Mrs. Charles) is the mother of four and a former primary school teacher who lives in Arlington Heights. This article was printed in the Chicago Daily News in October and we thought it appropriate for Mother's Day.

Mother Reflects on Her Day

BY IAN BONE

Even though you go in mourning for your first child, the day you get your first child, no one can tell you what it's really like till you're there. Motherhood is something only mothers can describe. Fortunately.

Because, if fathers got involved with all the things mothers have to do, we'd have a sharp decrease in the number of new babies.

You see, motherhood is far more than burnt toast and cold coffee and lines for breakfast-in-bed on Sunday. Motherhood is all sorts of unforgettable "for instance." Motherhood can best be described as a broadening experience. That's why you have to buy the next larger size in socks.

Motherhood is sleeping up the two-gallon bottle of maple syrup the baby poured on the cat. In fact, motherhood is agreeing to live with a cat, especially in the spring.

Motherhood is buying four identical boxes of cereal and closing your eyes while four pairs of groggy hands paw through the packages for the secret whistle ring.

Motherhood is sweeping the floor while they howl the whistle.

Motherhood is buying 18 pairs of black shoelaces at one time and carrying them in and Band-Aids on a field trip.

Motherhood is waiting a gentle and eye shadow to a 15-minute Teacher Conference.

Motherhood is learning the books of the Bible in order when your child has to. Or worse: capital.

Motherhood is spreading two miles of peanut butter and jelly sandwiches.

Motherhood is taking capsules for PTA open house and Cub Scout meetings. Also being a room mother.

Motherhood (for those of us who have only boys) is hanging out the kitchen window to look out on a little girl in a First Communion dress and Easter hat.

Motherhood is trying to call home and getting a busy signal. Or fading 160 Market.

Day newspapers on the afternoon of your son's first detention.

Motherhood is getting up at 6:30 a.m. to make waffles—and then having to drive a child to school because he missed his bus.

MOTHERHOOD is mailing a trombone payment and getting one back on your shoes. Again.

Altorfer Assails 'Ineptness' In State Pollution Controls

John M. Altorfer of Peoria, Republican candidate for governor in the June 11 primary, today lambasted out in "ineptness" in Illinois' battle against air pollution.

The candidate spoke at a hearing this morning, charging that duplicity between air pollution control agencies, inadequate financing of the fight on air pollution, and some deterioration of the state of the legislature are responsible for the severe hazard to health and the crippling financial losses being added on the people of Illinois by the "ugly haze and smog that hovers above Illinois metropolitan areas."

Altorfer promised that, when elected governor, one of his first concerns would be to reorganize air pollution control work in Illinois. He said that the Illinois Air Pollution Control Board stands in the spotlight in this struggle to clean up Illinois air.

"The Illinois Board, beset by procedural wrangles, is more concerned about grunting certification of a smelter, than it is in stopping the contamination of the air we breathe," he said.

Newspapers Honored At Two High Schools

Arlington and Wheeling High Schools' newspapers have been cited for continuing work during the past year by the Northern Illinois School Press Association (NISPA).

The awards were presented to the newspapers along with citations to staff members for outstanding individual stories at the annual spring meeting. For best overall excellence, honorable mention was given to Arlington High School's paper, "The Cardinal." The Cardinal and Wheeling High School's "The Spokesman."

Tom Walsh of Arlington High received third place for sports story, and Bruce Blackwell, also of Arlington High, was given a third place award for a photo.

contamination of the air we breathe," he said.

ONE of the first reforms needed, Altorfer said, is taking certification authority away from the Illinois Air Pollution Control Board and establishing a procedure under which counties or cities which meet or exceed state air pollution standards are automatically permitted to proceed with their own programs.

"Corrective legislation will be needed," Altorfer said, "to give the Illinois Air Pollution Control Board authority to declare an immediate emergency during periods of heavy air pollution. I commend the board for demanding of the Metropolitan Sanitary District a specific plan for ending the massive pollution caused by the district's Stokely steel-drying plant."

"I believe there is a great deal more that government can do to make absolutely certain its efforts are clean before it asks the public and industry to live up to the strict anti-air pollution regulations which are required to achieve necessary goals," he said. "Studies of immediate cooperation to lower or non-polluting types of fuel should be undertaken for all public buildings, including school buildings. Incinerators in all state-owned buildings should be equipped with anti-pollution equipment. Autos owned by state agencies should have smog-reducing devices."

ONCE GOVERNMENT shows an example of effective application of air pollution control practices, then we can ask and expect to receive full co-operation from citizens and industry.

"An one who finds his own place frequently, I have too often seen the ugly haze and smog that hovers over many Illinois metropolitan areas," Altorfer told his Washington audience.

"The real atmosphere of air pollution and grime that plays our atmosphere is the stench of the house. Ask about its effect on clothing, curtains and home furnishings. Perhaps women, as do I, whether we are giving serious enough attention to solving air pollution problems when the state has only one man to cover the entire south part of Illinois, including the incorporated areas of Cook County," he said.

Documenting his case on overlapping and conflicting authority by government units, Altorfer said, "In spite of the inadequate staff, the Illinois Air Pollution Control

9,700 Signatures Needed for Draft Amendment

BY K.C. RADTKE

The Draftees resident who two months ago proposed to Congress amend the U.S. Constitution to eliminate the peacetime draft, is still searching for 10,000 signatures to support his action.

Part time attorney and full-time restaurateur, James Ballowe, 888 Acme Ln., has proposed the 26th amendment to the constitution which reads: "No person shall be conscripted for military service unless there has been a declaration of war by Congress."

"If I had a son, I'd go to bootwork to get my petition signed. I have 300 signatures now, when I get 10,000, I'll give the petition to Senator Charles Percy and Everett M. Dirksen."

Ballowe's proposition received little coverage in the northwest suburban papers and no coverage in Chicago papers. He said he approached the American Civil Liberties Union for support, but that organization declined because of the amendment's political aspect.

Ballowe, who has a daughter in high school and is not running for a political office, said his interest in the draft stems from his insight into the young men who frequent his Chao Choo restaurant on Lee St.

"As a young man, I didn't have the difficulties boys have today," said Ballowe.

"I'm currently using ion of footwork to get my petition signed. I have 300 signatures now, when I get 10,000, I'll give the petition to Senator Charles Percy and Everett M. Dirksen."

Ballowe's proposition received little coverage in the northwest suburban papers and no coverage in Chicago papers. He said he approached the American Civil Liberties Union for support, but that organization declined because of the amendment's political aspect.

"My amendment merely forces Congress to act before the boys can be drafted," said Ballowe.

"When President Johnson found it necessary to intervene in Vietnam militarily, he should have used men already in the service (the reserves and national guard). Then he should have had Congress declare war before drafting more men."

Ballowe said he believes the Vietnam war is an unconstitutional degradation of power and a usurpation by the executive office.

When asked how the U.S. military would function without a draft, Ballowe says, "plenty of boys would enlist if there were a better financial remuneration."

Ballowe said he hasn't asked his young male customers if they would voluntarily join the service because "it's not possible at this time."

He said the national guard is each of the 50 states would be sufficient in case of war.

"At this point in his discussion against a peacetime draft, Ballowe quotes the father of the Constitution, James Madison, who wrote in 1788:

"The only possible way to provide for standing armies is to make them unnecessary. The way to do this, is to organize and discipline our militia, so as to render them capable of defeating the country against external invasions and internal insurrections."

The enactment of any petition today might prevent a "future president from having a military military machine," said Ballowe.

"ANY AMENDMENT should really be included in the Bill of Rights. You should have to be a soldier, unless your congressman says so."

Ballowe said the congressman to whom he is closest is the Illinois 9th district. He is currently supporting his son because he doesn't know his congressman's opinion on the law. In the case of Vietnam, Ballowe said, the congressman hasn't had a chance to vote. The president simply has ordered the troops there.

Booklets entitled "In Case of Emergency" were distributed to Branning employees including Rex Andrews, center, and John Burke by Walter Lange, assistant Mount Prospect Civil Defense director, yesterday. The booklets, outlining what to do during nuclear disasters and nuclear attack, also will be distributed to teachers in Village schools. Lange is Branning's personnel director.

Included also will be personal testimonies, songs by soloists and small musical groups. The Glee Clubs, on their annual spring tour, number about 45 persons.

Trinity College is a four-year liberal arts college sponsored by the Evangelical Free Church of America located 30 miles north of Chicago.

Dedication of the new Brentwood Baptist Church in Des Plaines was climaxed Sunday, May 3 with the first lighting of the church steeple. It can be seen from points in Des Moines Prospect, Arlington Heights and Minneapolis Cook County.

Brentwood Baptist Dedicated

The Brentwood Baptist Church formally dedicated their new house of worship at an afternoon service Sunday, May 3. The colonial style structure located on Dempsey St., just east of Rt. 83, Des Plaines, has a seating capacity of 200 as a cost of $40,000.

The dedicatory address was delivered by Pastor Vernon C. Lyons of the Ashburn Baptist Church of Chicago. Pastor of the congregation, James R. Hines, spoke on "The Message of the Church."

Special music was provided by the Ashburn Baptist Church, Ann Radnik of Moody Bible Institute and Mrs. James Colehouse of the local congregation.

Persons taking part in the program included Pastor Frank Bumpus, Bethel Baptist Church of Schaumburg.

Pastor Francis Turner, First Baptist of Oak Park, and Pastor Robert Rushing, Prospect Heights Baptist Church.

Members of the building committee were: Charles Brekan, Don Harper, Bill Miller and Leon Walker, all of Des Plaines.

Existing Home Market Active

Homes priced under $17,500 accounted for over 40 per cent of the sales of pre-owned homes during the past two years, according to Charles W. Welch of Louisville, Ky.

Welch, president of the Executive Officers Council of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, based his comments at the annual R.E.C. Seminar on Board Administration recently published report of existing home sales for 1966 and 1967. The seminar immediately preceded the annual spring meeting of NAREB and its affiliates in Chicago.

The report continues that the annual median price of existing homes was $19,354 last year, and $18,737 in 1966, an indication that there was an active market in all price categories.

THE SURVEY shows...

Welch went on, that for the past two years, August was the leader in monthly volume of pre-owned home sales for all regions of the nation except the Northeast, where for both years it ranked second behind June. With the exception of the Northeast, the next four active months in 1967 were June, May, July, and March, in that order, while in 1966 they were March, June, May, and July.

During the peak sales months, the median prices reported for existing homes sold was $19,662 in 1967, and $18,662 in 1966.

Three bedroom homes continued to dominate the market for previously-occupied homes with both years showing 57 per cent of sales in this category. In 1967, houses containing four or more bedrooms were ranked second in sales, while those with two or less were next most popular in 1966.

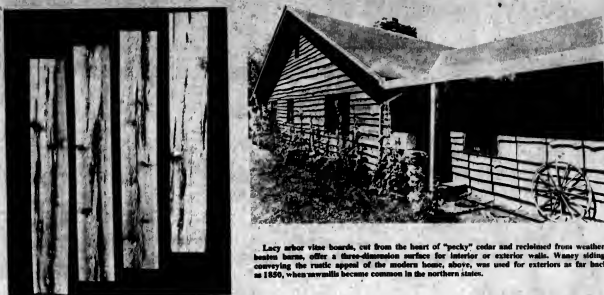

IN DISCUSSING the background of the report, Welch, who is also executive director of the Louisville Board of Realtors, explained that during the past several years a vast informational gap in the real estate economy existed because of the lack of qualitative and quantitative information on the existing home market. The monthly publication of this existing home sales series, prepared by the NAREB Department of Research with the cooperation of local boards of Realtors and R.E.C. members, has filled this informational vacuum to some degree.

R.E.C. is a professional affiliate of the national association, and its membership is composed of administrative officers of local boards and state real estate associations.

THIS REPORT contains information on price breakdowns of sales by month and year; median price by month and year; seasonal trends; and quantity comparison, all of which are further related to regional sales, he said.

Currently, 120 boards of Realtors from all sections of the country and comprising both large and small communities participate in the series. As a result, Welch concluded, the monthly findings of the series accurately reflect national trends in the market for pre-owned homes.

Lucy actor vine boards, cut from the heart of "pecky" cedar and reclaimed from weather-beaten barns, offer a time-dissemination surface for interior or exterior walls. Weary siding, conveying the rustic appeal of the modern barn, above, was used for exteriors as far back as 1850, when vermin became common in the northern states.

Old Wood Newest Thing

Old wood is the new thing for those searching for a striking effect, indoors or outdoors, with the durability built right into the material.

Weathered by nature, deepened by exposure to the elements for 50 years or more, the lumber offered by Decor Materials, Inc., at its Appleton, Wis., headquarters is increasingly in demand.

Evoking a nostalgic response in the beholder who can see in potentialities in his own den or living room or as a head-right tall fence, the "barn wood" furnished by Gerard Jolin, owner of the Decor Materials company, is rapidly establishing itself as a valuable functional and ornamental construction material.

For years, adroit operators have been buying and dismantling old barns all the way from the New England States to Los Angeles.

The Jolin firm got under way only in 1965, though previously he had "harvested" old barns as a sideline.

The merry "harvest" of the Decor product does not mean it's ready to fall apart. The reverse is true. Jolin claims that the very fact of the weathering undergone by the material he has selected for his customers is what provides authentic antiquity.

The operation of checking the boards and shingles from old barns and other rural buildings is called "recycling" the materials.

Barn boards, deep-grained, sun-colored, sturdy, add a rustic effect to almost any interior decor, with knot traces and irregular erosion patterns carved by wind and rain.

The weathered wood can be used for such details as picture frames and cabinet doors, or for massive support of ceilings as roof-beams. The reclaimed vintage materials show deep aged cuts in selected timbers.

For the materials he furnishes, Jolin reserves no exacting standard.

"Just any old barn will not do," he says. He claims he harvests only about five good barns out of 30 such structures. There is a time element involved: less than 10 years old, the wood probably will be insufficiently weathered; and if more than a century old, the actual wood fiber is brittle beyond practical use.

MINNEAPOLIS—Property delisted and planned satellite communities can be an answer to the two-pronged problem of urban sprawl and rural waste, William C. Haas of Kansas City, Mo., said here last week.

Haas, president of the Institute of Real Estate Management, discussed "Our Changing Cities" with members of the Missouri Chapter, IREM, at a special dinner meeting. The Institute is a professional affiliate of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

"Countries which have led us here have led us there wisely," he continued. "Ours is a good example of not very wise utilization of resources...approxi- mately 90 per cent of our population is crowded into less than 15 per cent of available land area. The waste which must be stopped."

HE EXPLAINED that we can follow the lead of other nations which have learned to plan land use. "Rumania, for instance, has built close to 900 new towns and cities since 1917. England, Scotland and Ireland are in the forefront of this movement, also."

The idea has taken hold in this country over the past several years, he said. "It has been tried in some cases it has failed. But, I am sure that if existing plans are refined, re-planned, and re-planned, we can find the answer to the problems created by urban expansion."

TWO OF the most widely heralded of these new towns are located close to Washington, D.C.

"Reston, built in the Virginia countryside and opened several years ago, is the new town farthest along in development, while Columbia, located along highway between Baltimore and the nation's capital, officially opened earlier this year."

"It is in these cities that some of the innovations developed with the new towns are evident."

"In Reston, for instance, luxury inventory apartments are located above the small service and retail shops of the town to keep the area active after dark. Townhomes are placed in the corner of a golf course to resident have enormous open views."

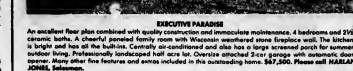

"At Columbia, the idea that a supermarket and church make good neighbors is being tested," he said. "The thinking is that when one is operating, the other is not. Therefore the parking requirements of both can be met with the same lot."

ALL NEW towns have not been universally successful, but neither were the first airplanes, automobiles, rocket ships, or any other "radical" concept, Haas said. "The important fact is that a test has been made. It is up to us to learn from the past, mistakes of others."

"Don't you agree that it would be preferable to have a nation dotted from coast to coast with new cities, each one distinct and self-contained, than filling areas of our country with massive concrete and steel nightmares where everyone and his in- dividuality are lost in the shuffle?"

If we are to do anything about it, the time is now, he concluded. "Every day we wait masses more and the decision will be made."

An excellent floor plan combined with quality construction and immaculate maintenance, 4 bedrooms and 2 1/2 baths, 2 car garage, full basement. Located on quiet cul-de-sac, 1 1/2 miles from school, 1 1/2 miles from shopping. Beautifully landscaped half acre lot. Over 100 sq. ft. of storage space. Call HARLAN JONES, Realtor.

FALKANGER REAL ESTATE
NORMAN S. FALKANGER, JR.

Norman Falkanger (affectionately known to his friends as Randy) is a fine example of HOME TOWN TALENT. Randy grew up in N.E. Chicago, and graduated from Arlington High, Township High School. Randy spent his summers working for several of our local merchants during his high school days and between terms spent at University of Illinois while earning his B.S. degree.

He served with the U.S. Cavalry in Europe in World War 2. Randy has 14 years experience in the Real Estate business. 13 years spent at his present location at Falkanger Real Estate, 110 S. Northwest Hwy., in Palatine, has his knowledge of real estate given even further back to 4 years as a mortgage loan officer for Prudential Insurance Co. of America. His outgoing nature and wonderful sense of humor coupled with his solid background of experience have served him well in his present capacity as president of N.E.A. Multiple Listing Service.

Winning Park serves as home base for Randy and his vibrant wife, Lee and their four children, Bill, Scott, Kristy, and Heidi. Two teenage sons in son Randy make Randy a "father" for membership in the V.P. Palatine High School Booster Club. Evidently the Boosters thought so too, so they went a step further and elected him President for the coming year.

Sandy's interest in his family and community keep him busy, but he still likes to find time for flying, skiing, fishing, and occasional early mornings on the golf course.

IT'S GREAT TO HAVE

FRIEND IN THE PICTURE ...

... when you have to make the many decisions involved in every real estate transaction. Most people are involved in no more than three or four real estate transactions in a lifetime. So it is not surprising that when it comes time to buy or sell a home, there is a great need for trustworthy professional help. Every buyer and seller has a good friend to whom he can turn for expert, honest assistance. That friend is a member of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors, or one of his representatives. People who must meet strict professional qualifications, and whose job it is to be of assistance to home sellers and home buyers. Call a Realtor on any matter pertaining to real estate. URBAN EXPANSION

"My lots in working districts, say a small amount each were 'open' and 'new' areas. These include major expansion, and in the end other people have made money for you."

Celebrate Realtors Week

"Home is Where Security Starts. Don't Wait in '68" is the theme of the 1968 Realtor Week celebration by the 850 members of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors. John O. McCabe, president, announced today.

Throughout the coming week, McCabe said, community-wide observances are scheduled at Realtors' area jobs with their more than 85,000 colleagues throughout the nation in directing attention to their calling and the special nature of the real estate industry.

REALTOR WEEK activities, which will be coordinated in with the broad Make America Better Program are seen as important to the achievement of stability and safety in our cities as reducing juvenile delinquency and crime; family education and training programs; rehabilitation and construction; education and training of children at earlier ages to provide employment opportunities; changes in restrictive practices which unduly increase construction costs; and cooperation and assistance with local organizations in the enactment of these similar programs.

"Highlighted under the Make America Better Program are seen as important to the achievement of stability and safety in our cities as reducing juvenile delinquency and crime; family education and training programs; rehabilitation and construction; education and training of children at earlier ages to provide employment opportunities; changes in restrictive practices which unduly increase construction costs; and cooperation and assistance with local organizations in the enactment of these similar programs."

A REALTOR, McCabe explained, "is a professional in real estate who subscribes to a strict Code of Ethics as a member of the local and state boards and of the National Association of Realtors."

Realtor, which is a colored term and a service mark registered in the U. S. Patent Office under the trademark "REALTOR" can be used only by members of the National Association and its local boards.

In discussing the Code of Ethics, McCabe said that it was one of the first such codes adopted in the history of American business. Under 30 articles, which cover all aspects of real estate transactions, Realtors pledge their fair treatment and their total real estate knowledge to both parties of a contract—the buyer and seller.

"Our board was formed in 1964, while the parent group, the National Association of Realtors Board, was founded in 1907," he said. "With offices in Washington, D.C. and Chicago, NABES furnishes Realtors with the latest information on real estate developments, market conditions, economic trends, and new techniques."

Transportation Important To Plant Location

Aspects of transportation, such as speed, convenience, dependability, frequency, and minimizing of handling become increasingly important in plant location decisions, delegates to the spring meeting of the Society of Industrial Engineers in Montreal were told.

Lorne D. R. Dyke, deputy minister of the Manitoba Department of Industry and Commerce, Winnipeg, said that while transportation factors are becoming more important, such factors as price of land, availability of utilities, and labor rates for highly skilled technical and professional staff are decreasing in importance.

DYKE SPOKE at a panel on "Industrial Opportunities in Canada," one of the educational highlights of the meeting of SIR — a professional affiliate of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

"Plant location is one of the most critical decisions facing management," he said, "and selecting a new plant, he said, 'Management and operating faults (mistakes) can usually be corrected at comparatively low cost, but once a facility is built, any faults due to location are forever reflected in higher operational costs which are rarely offset by expensive relocation.'"
